The students of Coromoto College will enjoy “new” furniture when they return to their classrooms as a result of a project between the Parents Committee and The Foundation Miss IQ, which sourced second hand furniture from schools in The Netherlands.

The students of Erasmus College will have a much cooler experience from the new school year as well as they now have new water fountain from which to quench their thirst with ice-cold water. The installation of the fountain was as well as the sourcing and shipping of the second hand furniture for Coromoto College were both supported by CIBC FirstCaribbean International Bank.

Lysaira Ortela, Marketing Manager of CIBC FirstCaribbean said the “development of our youth is of utmost importance to CIBC FirstCaribbean”. She said that in addition to the two projects, the bank also supported a number of summer camps.
